TERRY PEAK ski area

What Level Are You?

SKIERS

Level A – I have never skied before. This is my first time.

Level B – I have spent a few hours skiing and can do a cautious wedge on the beginning terrain.

Level C – I can do slow, solid wedge turns on easy terrain.

Level D – I can confidently ski on green terrain doing wedge turns.

Level E – I can ski some blue terrain using wedge turns and occasionally matching skis to parallel between turns.

Level F – I can ski parallel turns on green terrain, but I'm still cautious on blue runs. Sometimes I still use the wedge to control my turns.

Level G – I ski with a hip-width parallel stance on blue runs, occasionally venturing into black-groomed runs.

Level H – I can ski parallel on almost any terrain and easily change the size of my turns. I have a more open stance when conditions and terrain become unexpectedly tricky.

Level I – I can ski any run in any condition. I'm thinking about a career as a ski instructor.
